What is Forex

First and foremost, welcome to Auto Forex Trading. We would like to take this opportunity to provide you with the information you require in order to make the best and most informed decision for yourself.

The commonly used term Forex is an abbreviation of "Foreign Exchange". Forex, in its simplest form, is a worldwide, decentralised, OTC (over - the - counter) financial market place in which currencies are exchanged between countries and international banks for the purposes of trade. The true Forex market is made up of several Electronic Communication Networks (ECN's) between major banks and institutions, and of course us, the speculators. Not all FX brokers actually provide their clients with an actual ECN marketplace: instead, their clients trade in a synthetic environment that merely appears to be a free market. The Forex market is the most liquid market in the entire world with an estimated daily turnover of over $5 trillion. Compared to the NYSE which trades a daily volume of $22 billion, the Forex market dominates over all.

Whilst the Foreign Exchange Markets weald huge potential, it is common knowledge that to become a successful Forex Trader, it can take individuals months, if not years to achieve a level of profitable consistency. The barriers of entry are low to get started, however the reality is that for the majority of retail traders, Forex Trading simply doesn't go well. Whilst there our many conventional training methods and courses you can use, it can all soon become very daunting and equally frustrating. Many traders become fearful or greedy, which in turn can lead to make bad decision making which can negatively impact their trading accounts. Whilst we aren't trying to steer you away from the market, we feel its very important to manage your expectations, so you know exactly what is involved when trading Foreign Currencies.

Expert Advisors

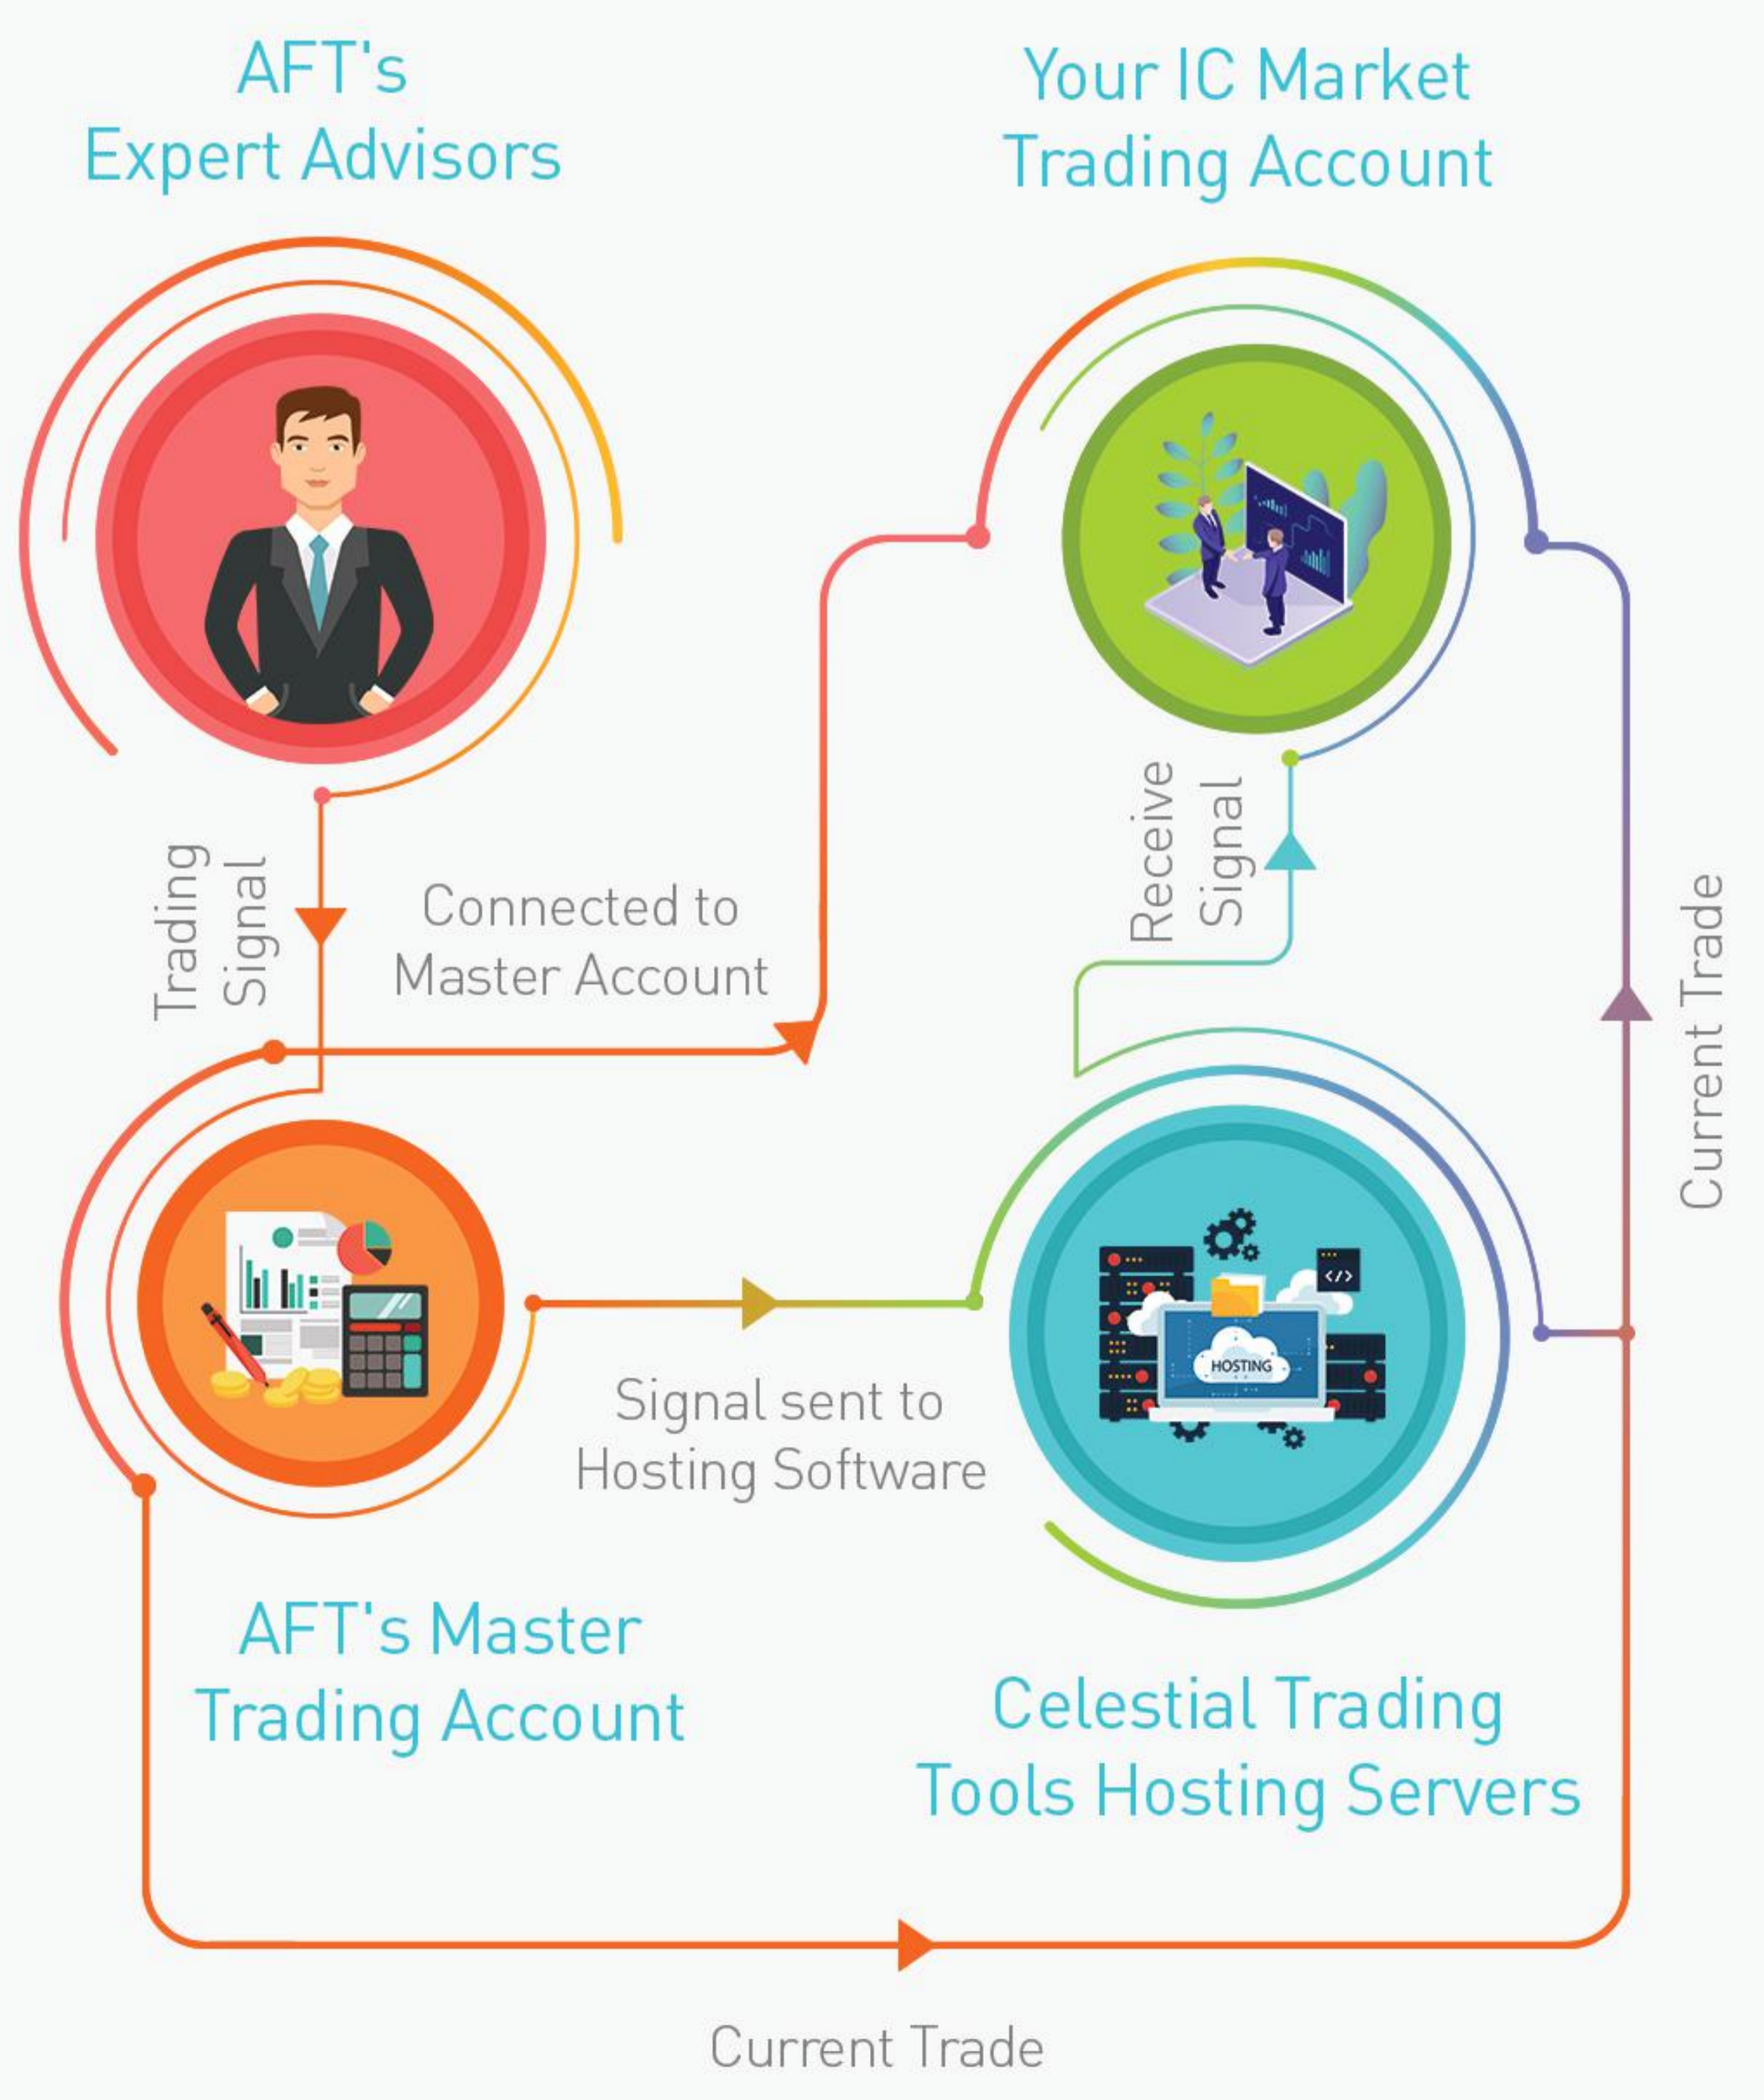

So, what is an Expert Advisor? An Expert Advisor, or EA, is an automated system that operates to the parameters or programmes set by its developer. Once connected to your MT4 trading account, the EA is designed to trade on the Financial Markets for you without any human intervention or emotion. This allows you to carry on with your day-to-day schedule without you having to intervene or action anything. This also enables anyone to trade on the financial markets, even if they have no experience! It is without a doubt that there are many appealing factors as to why many people opt for this popular trading method, but with so many different systems and strategies available on the market, where do you start?
